The Power of You

A career as a financial professional can be personally satisfying, challenging and meaningful. It allows you to positively impact people's lives by helping them build financial freedom and security for the "if" in life. All while offering the work-life balance today's professionals strive to achieve.

You do not need a financial background to embark on a career in financial services. Rather, you should have a desire to help others, a genuine sense of caring, a passion for learning and the ability to build relationships. As a financial professional, you will be able to utilize your work and life experiences to build success in a career that allows you to work independently. Your advancement and compensation will be measured by your contributions, not your time.

We're With You Every Step of the Way

As a financial professional with MetLife, we will be your advocate, providing support for your growth each step of the way. You'll receive peer support and mentors to share experiences with and to look to as role models. Your professional development is our priority. We offer:

- Comprehensive benefits programs and services created to help ensure equilibrium for all that's important in your life
- Company provided local resources, including office space, personal laptop, administrative assistance, and much more
- Prospecting and marketing support, including one of the industry's largest existing client bases
- Company sponsored training and development programs, including tuition reimbursement for qualifying industry designations
- Diverse portfolio of investment and protection products
- A competitive compensation package

- And more

This is the career you've been waiting for. Help build *financial freedom and
