Are you prepared for a medical emergency?

Emergencies aren’t always predictable but the medical care for your globally mobile employee on international assignment is with our emergency medical and evacuation services. So you can have confidence that they will receive quality care in an emergency — even if it requires transportation to the nearest medical facility. Having that peace of mind is important, especially in locations where local medical care and facilities are limited.

Planning for an emergency, an essential part of your global benefits program

Whether it’s medical assistance, evacuation or repatriation, our capabilities include:

- Extensive benefit coverage, ready to provide assistance for all medical emergencies, including the transportation of patients that can’t be treated locally.
- Capabilities that include the right team of global medical professionals with extensive resources and the flexibility to work with a preferred vendor, if requested.
- Around the clock access to medical professionals and resources providing the coverage needed any place, any time.
Putting our plans into practice

You can be confident that your employees are covered, like in this example.⁴

Meet Patty, a globally-mobile employee on assignment in Cameroon.

Admitted to a rural hospital in Cameroon, Patty received an initial diagnosis of renal failure. The Regional Service Center was contacted by the hospital and provided the details of Patty’s diagnosis.

Based on the severity of symptoms and limited medical resources, it was determined that Patty would require an air evacuation to South Africa for treatment.

Arrangements were quickly coordinated through our global and local teams and Patty’s family was notified and updated on her status. The air evacuation occurred quickly and after more advanced testing, the final diagnosis was changed to malaria. Patty received the treatment needed and made a full recovery.

Coverage to count on when it matters most

We know it’s important to act quickly and make arrangements for treatment. That’s why we have the right team ready to respond in case of emergency so you can be confident that we have your employees covered with:

- Medical Evacuation — experienced medical staff of physicians and nurses

Here’s how it works:

1. 24/7 Regional Service Center¹ notified of emergency
2. Medical professional contacts attending physician
3. Dedicated medical team evaluates diagnosis, monitors the case, assesses adequacy of local medical care, and makes recommendations to move the patient, if necessary
4. If evacuation is necessary, emergency transportation arranged with destination and timeline determined
5. Patient’s family receives ongoing updates

- Advantages¹
  - Trained medical professionals familiar with international travel medicine available 24/7 to evaluate, coordinate and monitor care with attending physician
  - Multi-lingual call center with over 20 languages spoken on-site
  - Access to medical capabilities in over 200 countries

- Additional Medical Services¹
  - Provider referrals
  - Medical monitoring
  - Emergency prescription replacement
  - Arrange special medical services
  - Bedside visitor arrangement

Extensive capabilities to get the care that is needed

- The right team — Access to a network with a global medical team of physicians, nurses and medical directors trained in international travel and emergency medicine available 24/7 to evaluate and arrange evacuation if medically necessary.
