A fixed immediate income annuity for financial stability in retirement

51% of Americans do not believe they'll have enough money to cover their retirement needs.¹ With the continuing decline of defined benefit pension plans, employees must take on more responsibility to ensure their savings lasts throughout retirement. As a result, your employees may be delaying retirement or more retirees may be headed back to work.

You can empower your employees to retire on time by offering the MetLife Guaranteed Income Program[®] (MGIP). MGIP is a fixed immediate income annuity that provides employees with guaranteed lifetime income. Employees can complement other savings and investments, by adding a guaranteed and secure income stream at retirement.
